

Victim Of A Walk-In!: I Lost My Wife & Livelihood Through Automatic-Writing!

This is my seventh book in The Coming Series, and has to do with a matter that has been plaguing me now for almost thirty-three years. It has to do with a subject called Auto-writing. In previous books, I discussed the weakness of the U.S. banking system, including hyperinflation, expatriation, and protecting ones self financially. This book is different. It spells out what I did as an experiment back in early 1982, that has haunted & bewildered me ever since. When attending Georgetown University, in DC, I enrolled in a basic psychology course to get an A, as many of us did, to raise our Grade Point average. Half way through the course, our professor spent an hour on Automatic-Writing. This book will explain the consequences of such action. Itll be short and sweet, right to the point. Its an extraordinary story, enjoy the experience, and benefit from it. As the Kingston Trio, of the 50-60s fame would say: These are the times that try mens souls...this could happen to you! This book was written using true life experiences, as I remembered them; apologies for any errors contained within the pages, as it has been thirty-three years since the incident. Much of the book is a lead-in to the Auto-writing episode, as I wanted my children to learn about my childhood, educational years, military service, and career. For those wishing to skip this part, just proceed to chapters, 7, 8, 9, 11, 14 & 16. Enjoy the book!
